

GALE HITS L. A. HARBOR! 18 MEN ADRIFT!

BIG CROWD TO GATHER AT XMAS TREE

Celebration to Be Staged Tonight at Harvard High School

Glendale's third annual community Christmas celebration, which will occur on the Harvard High school grounds at 8 o'clock tonight, is expected to be the best observance of its kind ever held in the city, with musical and dramatic leaders uniting for the program. Staging co-operation from singers in Burbank and Eagle Rock is also anticipated.

The program, which will be presented on a platform erected in front of the building, is to begin promptly at 8 o'clock and last until 9 o'clock or a little later. The audience will gather around the large living Christmas tree, which has been hung with lights and topped with a large star. Seats will be provided.

A group of musical numbers will open the program, a children's chorus and a chorus representing the various musical organizations of the city being the singers. Both choruses will give Christmas carols and the older group will sing the "Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah."

An allegorical story of the Christmas season will be shown by Glendale and Burbank players in the presentation of "Eager Heart," a pantomime, under the direction of Gabriel Ravanello, of Pasadena. The story includes the usual Christmas theme, presented, however, in a slightly different manner, with unusually attractive lines, which will be read during the number.

The program will close with the appearance of Santa Claus, himself, who will be on hand to take away the gifts brought by the children for the needy families of the city.

The affair is under the direction of George J. Lyons, president of Glendale Community Service, and R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of municipal recreation and director of Community Service.

XMAS USHERED IN WITH CRIME WAVE

Police Sergeant, Two Thugs Dead as Holdups Go On In Chicago

CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—Chicago's Christmas crime wave continued unabated during the last twenty-four hours and, as a result, one detective sergeant and two bandits are dead today and another detective sergeant and a thief wounded.

The gunplay was part of a night of crime, during which fifty patrons of the Sheridan Park club were lined up and robbed by six "polite" holdup men. Three employees and two guests of the Parkway hotel were robbed of $2000 and an undetermined amount of jewelry and scores of minor holdups and robberies were reported.

Because he refused to give up a loan "on such a cheap watch," Benjamin Albin, pawnbroker, was held up in his Hope hotel room today and robbed of $1600 worth of jewelry and $5000 in checks.

Evening News Office Closed Christmas Day

The Glendale Evening News will be closed all day tomorrow, in order that its employees may observe Christmas as they desire. Tomorrow's issue of this paper will be delivered to subscribers early in the morning. Advertising for tomorrow's issue must be in this office this afternoon. The Glendale Evening News telephone exchange will not be in operation tomorrow. However, an operator will be on duty beginning at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in order to answer calls relative to the football game and to receive messages. Remember, please, that this office will be closed all Christmas day and that the telephone operator will NOT be on duty until 5 p. m.

Yes, There Is Santa Claus!

Some years ago a little girl wrote this letter to the editor of the New York Sun, Charles A. Dana:

Dear Editor—I am 8 years old. Some of my friends say that there is no Santa Claus. Papa says: "If you see it in The Sun, it's so." Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?

VIRGINIA O. HANLIN.

And the editor of the Sun, mighty man of invective and sarcasm, became "even as a little child," and wrote the following charming reply:

"Virginia: 'Your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They will not believe except they see.'"

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas, how dreary would be the world if there were no Virginias! There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childlike faith fills the world would be extinguished."

"You might get your papa to hire men to watch all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus come down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men see. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders that are unseen and unseeable in this world. You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man and genius could ever tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love and romance can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing so real as abiding."

"No Santa Claus! Thank God, he lives and lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia—may, ten times ten thousand years from now—he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

Golfer's Wife Charged With Poison Candy Plot

COLUMBIA, Miss., Dec. 24.—Mrs. Hilma Ensmiger, wife of George Ensmiger, local golf professional, was placed under arrest here today at the request of authorities in Olean, N. Y., who asked that she be held on charges of having attempted to poison her 7-year-old stepson, George Ensmiger, Jr., by sending him poisoned candy. Mrs. Ensmiger was paroled in the custody of her attorneys.

Kimono Draped Body of Woman Floats In Bay

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24.—Believed to have been murdered, a young woman's dead body, clad only in a blue silk kimono, was found floating in the bay at the foot of Larkin street this morning. The woman's face appeared to have been beaten. The body had been in the water a short time.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—Christmas day will be cold almost generally over the United States and there will be snow on the ground over most middle and northern sections east of the Pacific states, the weather bureau announced today.

SHADOW OVER WHITE HOUSE CHRISTMAS

Observance to Be Devoid of Joys Experienced in Previous Years

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—"This year there will be three; last year there were four."

With this simple statement of President Coolidge's so poignantly in their minds, the president and Mrs. Coolidge were planning today for a Christmas devoid of much of the joy experienced in the past.

But one son, John, will be at the White House fireside this year. Calvin, the younger, was buried among the Green mountains of Vermont just a little over six months ago.

For all the sorrow of the past year, however, the Coolidges are planning an old-fashioned yuletide observance of the New England variety. Many of the features that marked their first Christmas in the White House will be omitted because of the loss of their boy, but the executive mansion will not be lacking in the holiday spirit.

Are Aiding Needy

In the place of the dance given just a year ago today in honor of the return of the two boys from school, and instead of the festive Christmas tree that graced the blue room, Mrs. Coolidge this year has devoted her energies to extending a helping hand to the poor of the city and to the maimed veterans of the World war, bedridden in several hospitals around Washington.

This morning, at a local theatre, Mrs. Coolidge assisted the Good Samaritans of the Central Union mission in distributing food baskets to the needy and toys to the little unfortunates. In the afternoon the first lady will lend her aid to the Salvation Army in similar missionary work. Flowers and potted plants, ordinarily used to bedeck the executive mansion, have been diverted to the veterans' hospitals, along with little remembrances for those confined.

Tonight the president will touch the button lighting Washington's mammoth community Christmas tree and, following this, he will play host to such as can squeeze into the White House grounds to listen to the singing of Christmas carols by the vested choir of the First Congregational church.

Plan Quiet Day

For themselves, the president, Mrs. Coolidge and their son John are expecting a quiet day tomorrow. With them will be only Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, closest friends of the president's family, who arrived in Washington this morning.

Following the universal custom, the little group will assemble early tomorrow to unwrap the numerous presents sent them from

Must Report Monthly For Forty Years

LAKEPORT, Dec. 24.—California's longest term probationary prisoner was free today. For forty years Charles Schiaffini must report monthly to the probation officer here and remain on his good behavior. In 1917 Schiaffini was convicted of burglary and sentenced to twenty-five years in San Quentin. Recently it developed that the law in question did not provide where prisoners sentenced under it should be imprisoned and he was sent back to the Lake county authorities.

Lake county possesses no jail suitable for housing long term prisoners and the county did not feel inclined to build one for their "white elephant" prisoner. So Schiaffini came up for resentencing before Judge Hugh Preston, who fixed his new term from twenty to forty years, suspended sentence and ordered the freed prisoner to report once a month to the county probation officer.

REBEL FORCES PUT NATION TO FLIGHT

Albanian Capital Taken as Government Troops Flee Before Attack

ROME, Dec. 24.—Tirana has been occupied by the rebel forces and the government has fled, according to a message from Tirana received here today.

The fall of Tirana and Scutari was reported in dispatches yesterday but not confirmed.

Connections Cut

BELGRADE, Dec. 24.—Communications between Tirana, capital of Albania, and Scutari, the ancient seat of government, were cut and the Albanian situation remained in doubt today.

Official confirmation of the capture of these two cities by rebel forces was lacking, although the reports were received from several sources.

Tirana was surrounded today by rebel forces reported to have won a battle sixteen miles northeast of the capital.

Mother of 5 Children Is Found Beaten Dead

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 24.—Kicked and beaten to death, the body of Mrs. Sophia Alexandrowitz, 26, mother of five children, was found beside her bed by her husband when he returned home today.

After binding and gagging the woman, two burglars secured $25 in search of her home. Upon leaving, they applied a match to the house. Mrs. Burpee managed to work the gag loose and screamed until help came. Her home was destroyed by the fire.

Tugs to Aid of Ship Listing In L. A. Harbor

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24.—Two tugs have been dispatched to the aid of an unidentified vessel reported in distress off the harbor here with a heavy list to port. The crew is apparently making a feeble effort to beach the helpless hulk, it was reported by watchers on shore. Searchlights of the battleship fleet anchored off the breakwater are playing on the ship.

Agents for the vessel here deny that the vessel is in any danger and expect it to be floated at high tide.

RAIL HEAD IS OPTIMISTIC FOR 1925

Illinois Central Head Says 1924 Ends Promising Record Business

By C. H. MARKHAM
President of the Illinois Central Railroad Co.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—The business outlook is better at the close of 1924 than it has been in several years. We seem to be entering upon an era of industrial and commercial activity that promises to carry American business to new high levels of production and prosperity.

The railroads are ready and eager to contribute their part to bring about these better times. Their facilities are in good condition. In the last few weeks they have proved more than equal to the greatest movement ever required of them. They have made remarkable improvements in the economy and in efficiency of their service and they have bettered their relations with their employees and with the public. The question of government ownership has been settled by the election.

The railroads are in readiness to move forward with the progress of American business.

It is estimated that the gross income of the farmers of the country—with whom originates a large part of the demand for the products of industrial and commercial operations—will be about one-half billion dollars greater for the 1924-25 season than for the 1923-24 season, and this sum will find its way back into the channels of commerce and trade.

It is especially reassuring that agricultural recovery has been most pronounced where it was most needed—in the wheat producing sections of the northwest. The wheat growers have made excellent crops and have realized on them at better prices.

These and other factors—the acceptance of the Dawes plan for the settlement of Europe's economic problems and the termination of the election uncertainty indicate that business will continue to increase.

The promised growth of the country's business is a challenge to the railroads to keep pace with it by constant enlargement and improvement of their facilities. In 1923 and 1924 the railroads have spent more than two billion

IT'S CHRISTMAS EVE IN JERUSALEM Pilgrims Fill Narrow Streets OFFER TRIBUTE ON SACRED GROUND

By GERSHON AGRONSKY
For International News Service.

JERUSALEM, Dec. 24.—This is Christmas Eve in the town of the lowly Savior, and the narrow winding streets are filled with a greater number of pilgrims than for many years past.

That gently sloping hill, where the compassionate Jesus paused and looked down over his beloved city and wept because of the evil days which had come upon it, has been trod all the day long by the feet of devout sightseers.

Dim, flickering candles are burning in innumerable homes and mud huts here tonight. This is not a part of the Christmas observance. These candles mark one of the most important epochs in the history of Judaism. For eight days now they have been burning in every Jewish home in Palestine. It is, in the symbolism of the race, a rekindling of the flames when the Jews routed the Romans, 2070 years ago.

The Jews and the Christians are the pilgrims this year. There is no mecca for the Moslems, even though a great Moslem mosque occupies the site of the ancient Jewish temple.

While the Jewish celebration is mainly nationalistic, Christian pilgrims have been pouring into Jerusalem for many days for the midnight mass in the Holy Sepulchre church.

Here are relics of the true cross and the sepulchre on Mount Calvary. Other pilgrims, after tarrying in Jerusalem for the last few days, have gone to Bethlehem. There they will flock all day tomorrow—Christmas—to the spot where the Church of the Nativity stands above the grotto where Jesus was born, and where Three Wise Men worshiped the newborn Savior.

Bethlehem is now a Christian village, but the celebrations of the Jews and the Christians are a pledge to the world that the Holy Land is indestructible.

ETERNAL CITY OPENS GATE TO HOLY

Pilgrims See Pope Pius Signal Saint Peter on Jubilee Door

By GUGLIELMO EMMANUEL
For International News Service.

ROME, Dec. 24.—With thousands of pilgrims and sightseers looking on, Pope Pius today opened the celebration of the Holy Year. With three light taps of a jeweled hammer he knocked open the Jubilee door of St. Peter.

When the ceremony began at 11 o'clock every seat in the royal boxes was filled, royalty, nobility and distinguished guests being present for the occasion.

Although the Eternal City has perhaps the largest number of pilgrims and sightseers present than at any modern celebration of Holy years, it was noticed that the percentage of Americans was very small.

Far and Near

From far and near the pilgrims have come, no small number of them retaining the oldtime quaint costumes. On occasions in the past the Eternal City has held as high as 3,000,000 pilgrims.

The actual ceremonies today were brief. They began at 11 o'clock and by 12 o'clock all of the details were completed. The ceremony itself is not so important as it is significant.

BARGE'S CREW NEAR DEATH, BATTERED BY SEAS

Ocean Traffic Is Hampered By Storm; Unidentified Vessel Is Helpless

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24.—Eighteen men, clinging to the wave-washed deck of a United Dredge Co. harbor dredge, were rescued by tugs after the hulk had been swept far to sea by the terrific gale. The dredge was later towed to safety.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24.—

Torn from its anchorage by the heavy gale which struck the harbor here today, a huge dredge, with eighteen men aboard, was swept to sea and is reported in danger of foundering in the high seas. Tugs dispatched to the aid of the helpless dredge have been unable to get a towline aboard.

Under sunny skies, the worst gale of the year has disrupted traffic at the harbor, swept a deck with eighteen men aboard to sea, disabled a vessel off the coast, damaged at least one ship at anchor and delayed the arrival and departure of several others.

Torn from its moorings by a fierce twist of the wind, the dredge with a crew of eighteen aboard was swept to sea, and is reported to be in danger of foundering.

Ship Is Helpless

An unidentified ship of large size is reported drifting helplessly towards the beach near the entrance of the harbor. The craft has a heavy list to port and is making heavy weather of the storm.

Incoming ships have been delayed from three to four hours by the shrieking wind, which attained a velocity of forty-five miles an hour. Many vessels scheduled to sail are being held in port until the storm abates.

Beaten against the dock where she was moored, the pilot boat Catherine Cryer was badly damaged and had to be saved by tugs. Badly battered by the wind and high seas, the steamship Lake Franchise from the northwest limped into port today with several hundred thousand feet of lumber swept from her deck by tremendous waves.

The Aurora, palatial yacht of Cliff Durant, millionaire sportsman, was torn from her moorings near the harbor entrance and wrecked on nearby rocks. Two navy barges are ashore at Point Firmin and another barge is wrecked on Santa Catalina island.

CHAIRMEN FOR 1925 BOARD SELECTED

MAC BAIN FOR COUNCIL JOB ASSURANCE

Standing Committee Heads
Of Chamber to Pick
Own Associates

Glendale Merchant Certain
To Get Position, Is
Hint at Meeting

Chairmen of standing committees of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce for 1925 were announced at the meeting of the board of directors last night by President D. H. Smith. Twenty-three standing committees will function within the chamber during the coming year. Only committee chairmen were named and subsequently approved by the board of directors. Remaining members on each of the twenty-three committees will be chosen by the chairmen themselves.

Following is the full list announced by President Smith: Advertising and publicity, Paul E. Stillman; audit, Dan Kelly; Boy Scout work, F. C. Ayars; budget, George T. Bentley; civic committee, R. E. Johnston; entertainment, A. L. Ferguson; Tournament of Roses float, L. W. Chobe; float finance, Dr. T. C. Young; flood control, Percy J. Hayselden; fire protection, Percy J. Hayselden; highways and bridges, L. T. Rowley; industrial, Lloyd H. Wilson; legislative, Bert P. Woodward; membership, Dr. T. C. Young; postoffice and aerial mail service, C. K. Bowerman; public service corporation, W. B. Kelly; schools, C. D. Thom; sewerage disposal, W. E. Hewitt; transportation, W. T. Jefferson; ways and means, R. F. Kitterman; radio program committee, Gould H. Warren; Chamber of Commerce luncheon club, George F. Orgibet; educational, O. E. McDowell.

New Procedure

The practice of allowing each committee chairman to select his own associates is a new one, and is designed to arrive at the greatest possible efficiency in getting committees who will prove active and willing to serve when named. The committee heads were selected only after close study and consultation with other members of the board and Secretary Howard I. Wood, President Smith stated, in announcing his list.

"I am delighted with every selection," was the verdict of Secretary Wood. "I feel confident that in the board of directors and these committee chairmen we have an organization capable of accomplishing unlimited results for Glendale during 1925. Every committee chairman is peculiarly

The first authentic hint by any member of the Glendale city council that Harry G. MacBain, merchant and director of the chamber of commerce, will be appointed to fill the place of Councilman Asa Hall, deceased, was given last night when Councilman Sam Davis appeared before the directors of the chamber of commerce and informally announced the decision of the council to name Mr. MacBain.

"The job seems to be mighty unpopular," said Councilman Davis in making the announcement. "Not a single citizen of Glendale has so far sought the place and only two have been proposed. These were D. F. Smith and Mr. MacBain. Mr. Smith, as you all know, has declined to serve and asked that his name be dropped."

"We have decided to allow Harry to sit in the committee of the whole next Friday morning and to take his place at the council table during the regular session. If he behaves himself during the first session, it is our intention to swear him in."

Mr. MacBain said he had not sought the position, but that after his name had been put forward by a number of business men, he was ready to accept the appointment.

Truckloads of Xmas Cheer
Leave for Sawtelle
And Buddies

The hearts of four hundred and twenty-one ex-soldiers at Sawtelle will be made happy on Christmas Day when they receive baskets of Christmas delicacies, personal gifts and remembrances from Glendale. Although all ex-soldiers at the Soldiers' Home are given food and clothing, it is most welcome. Much of the credit for Glendale's part is due Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, chairman of co-operation with ex-service men and women for the Tuesday Afternoon club, who has given her service and time to directing the work of packing the baskets and assembling gifts.

Representatives of Glendale organizations met yesterday morning at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse and, with the assistance of Mrs. Gilliland, packed the four hundred and twenty-one baskets. The Christmas spirit was manifest at the gathering, fifty women being present to assist in the work, adding a personal touch to the baskets to gladden the hearts of the recipients. Glendale, Hollywood, Burbank, Tujunga, La Canada, La Crescenta, and Eagle Rock had representatives at the meeting.

The Christmas baskets were made attractive with Christmas paper in red and green and lined with Christmas paper. On the top of the baskets was Christmas greenery with the Christmas greeting cards made by the Junior Red Cross, personal greeting cards and a card on which all names of the organizations co-operating in the work had been mimeographed by Miss Neva Vesey, of the Glendale Red Cross.

Contents of Baskets
In each box was placed: Two apples, two oranges, one grapefruit, bound books wrapped with holly paper, two tangerines, walnuts, almonds, raisins, dates.

Rev. Bob Schuler, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church of Los Angeles, will be the main speaker at the annual banquet of the Federated Church Brotherhood of Glendale, which will be held Tuesday night, December 30, at 6:30 o'clock at the Glendale Presbyterian church. Special music will be an added feature of the evening entertainment. Frank C. Weiler, president of the organization, announces that the meeting is also "Ladies' Night," when members are asked to bring their wives and friends. Don Tyler, student of Occidental college, and champion boy orator of the United States, will also be a speaker at the gathering.

Set Date for School Bond Election Soon

George U. Moyses, Glendale Union High school principal, and Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, were in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon, conferring with County Counsel O'Connor on some of the legal steps involved in calling the proposed bond election to provide $2,500,000 for elementary and high school expansion. Among the important matters gone into was that of drawing the precinct lines for the election. At a joint meeting of the two boards, to be held after the holidays, the exact date of this election will be set, Mr. Moyses states.

LEGAL RIGHTS OF CHILDREN DISCUSSED

Prominent Woman Attorney
Is Speaker at Luncheon
Of Tuesday Club

Mab Copeland Lineman, successful woman attorney, and prominent club woman, talked to Tuesday Afternoon club members and guests during the luncheon hour yesterday on "Property Rights of Women and Children." Glendale club women have heard Mrs. Lineman twice before this year, before the College Women's club and at the Los Angeles district convention. Again she spoke to them of business facts of value to every woman.

Taking experiences from her own life and practice of law, she brought to her listeners the need of understanding property rights. From her talk the club women learned briefly of personal property, promissory notes, real property, community property and the making of wills. While the hour was all too short Mrs. Lineman filled every minute with interest and at the close was heartily applauded and accorded a rising vote of appreciation.

Bowls Prepared

At one end of the banquet hall were tables bearing the Christmas baskets and boxes packed for the ex-soldiers at Sawtelle. Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, chairman of co-operation with ex-service men and women, was given opportunity to tell of this work. A special table was arranged for members of the fine arts department. Mrs. Harriett Barry, water colorist of Tujunga, was a special guest.

Mrs. Alexander Mitchell was in charge of the luncheon hour music. She presented Alice Beeson Bowles, who played accompaniments for two songs, for which she wrote the words and music. The songs "Waiting for You," dedicated to Mrs. Lillian Ballagh, and "Bethlehem Star," were sung by Ina Butler, with violin obligatos by Harold Korn.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, presided over the luncheon, and the afternoon meeting and program.

The one who makes two grins grow where one grin grew before.
The man who can face his defeat without whining about hard luck.
The good natured snicker more than the sour faced saint.
The church that is building up the people.

FIRST-HAND KNOWLEDGE

First-hand knowledge is so much more reliable than hearsay. A cartoon published at Thanksgiving time showed the United States, represented by a child, sitting down in front of a huge roasted turkey and saying, "This is a helluva country." Outside the window the war-torn, devastated countries of Europe, in the form of an emaciated little girl in rags, looked in longingly at the feast.

This is the attitude that too many in this country are taking. Replete with food and pleasure and enjoying every opportunity to get ahead, they feel the country owes them something more, that our government is all wrong.

Emma Goldman had that idea, too. Had she been permitted to remain in the United States she would still have it, no doubt. She would still be convinced, as she was before she was deported, that Russia was the land of the blessed and that Communism was heaven on earth. But now she has seen Bolshevism in action and is warning England against it, an entirely unnecessary precaution, in view of Britain's recent election. She has found Bolshevism as harsh a tyranny as man ever experienced. She has seen, she says, a great nation and a great people, a hundred and thirty millions strong, ruled absolutely by a party of three hundred thousand members, controlled rigidly and ruthlessly by less than a dozen men. And she has seen more suffering under that regime than Russia ever knew in the blackest days of the czars.

Distance always lends enchantment. Propinquity too often brings disillusionment. We would all appreciate our country more if we could have a little experience as citizens of other countries.

PLEA FOR CLEAN PRESS

There is a demand everywhere for cleaner journalism, and this sentiment was recently crystallized by Ogden T. McClurg, president of A. T. McClurg Co., well known Chicago publishers, who wrote:

"Here is my best wish for Chicago in 1925. That Chicago newspapers be brought to appreciate Chicago as much as its citizens and outsiders do; that they stop injuring Chicago by their needless emphasis on crime, and that crime in these same papers be relegated to the tenth or fifteenth pages and that the first pages be used for decent news."

In the past the people have taken what was handed to them by the newspapers, and the newspapers excused themselves for the quality of their product by saying they were giving the people what they wanted, a saw that is both trite and untrue. But the time has come when the people are demanding clean, constructive news, and will take no substitute for it in the way of crime and scandal and tiresome stories about people who should remain in obscurity.

The growing tendency of newspapers to dispense with news is noted with concern by Thomas L. Masson, veteran humorist, in the Dearborn Independent. "Its place is being taken by features," says this writer, "which too often exploit the worst elements in human nature. A special writer in Los Angeles recently told the writer hereof that he had a standing order from one of the largest newspapers in the east, a newspaper which in the past was accurately described as 'great,' for all the movie scandal that Hollywood can produce. Moreover, this garbage, he said, is 'given the play' on that particular newspaper's front page."

DESIRE FOR PEACE

An article in the Army-Navy Journal on the desire for peace brings out the point that any advance toward less selfishness in the world, toward a keener sense of justice, makes for peace and should be welcomed by us all. But the mass of pacifist propaganda, says this article, is not based on this point of view. It is based on the idea that peace can be had by discrediting the men who were ready to make the sacrifice that war demands.

The last war gave us a clearer view of Mars in all his horrible repulsiveness, but that fact in itself should make us pay greater honor to those who would have sacrificed themselves, or who did sacrifice themselves, upon his altar. History proves to us that had not the bearing of arms in the service of one's country been considered an honor in the past, had not a majority of the men of the country believed that no sacrifice of property or life was too great to insure the continuance of our principles, there would be today no United States of America. Let us be positive that there will never again be war before we discredit and antagonize the men we will expect to do the fighting, if our country should ever be in need of defense.

HIGH COST OF DRINKING

There is an old saying that "the partaker is as bad as the thief." And the law recognizes this principle in several ways by holding equally guilty those who assist in the commission of a crime with those who actually perpetrate it. And now the prohibition enforcement bureau in Washington has awakened to the fact that this principle should be applied to the possession of imported liquor. An act of Congress, passed in 1922, provides a fine of $5000 and imprisonment for two years for anyone who purchases smuggled goods, and anyone who purchases imported liquor knows that he is acquiring smuggled goods.

Enforcement of this law, it is said, may boost the moonshine business to some extent. But it is going to give the consumer an uneasy feeling to know that if he buys imported goods he may be prosecuted under the smuggling law by the treasury department, and if he buys moonshine it may lay him out cold.

AMERICAN BUSINESS METHODS

The ability of the American business man and the superiority of American business methods are being clearly demonstrated in Europe today, where one young American, Seymour Parker Gilbert, is administering the reparations plan under which Germany, owing the largest bill of reparations of any nation in history, has for three months paid her regular reparations installments to Great Britain, France and other countries, including the bill for the American army of occupation. History has never recorded such a far-reaching piece of work as that performed by three American business men—Dawes, Young and Robinson—in outlining the reparations plan, later adopted at the London conference, and which is now being into effect. They accomplished what the greatest diplomats and politicians in the world could not do.

DROPPING THE PILOT!

Room

By DR. FRANK CRANE

"When a firm, decisive spirit is recognized," says John Foster, "it is curious to see how the space clears around a man and leaves him room and freedom."

Most of us are continually beset in this life. We are crowded. There are too many affairs, too much business, too much amusement, too many people, too many events, we own too many things, and time itself crowds upon us.

We do not have that large and healthy leisure the soul needs for its growth, and the mind needs for its activities.

There is a good hint in the quotation from Mr. Foster. It is, that the only thing that gives us room and freedom is decision.

Most of our clutteredness comes from indecision. When we do not know what to do with a thing we lay it to one side. By and by the side is full. It would be much better if we could dispose of a thing definitely and permanently when we get through with it.

There are some men that we do not know if they be friends or enemies. It would be better to make up our minds at once and treat them positively.

There are places we do not know whether to go to or stay away from. We should have more freedom of action if we decided at once to go or to stay.

A decisive mind acquires the habit of ease. The indecisive mind is always in a stew of some sort.

Indecision wears away the nerves. The undecided mother has trouble with her children. The undecided teacher has trouble with her pupils. The undecided business man has trouble with his customers. Indecision, anywhere, seems to spell trouble.

Of course, occasionally, decision may spell trouble, as there is a certain amount of trouble that is due to come to us, but the trouble caused by decision at least is plain and clear, and we can get through with it, while the trouble caused by indecision is continuous.

We feel a good deal toward indecisive people as the private felt toward the drill master. After hearing many successive orders, such as "Right, shoulder shift" and "Left shoulder shift," "Forward March" and "Halt" and so on, the dismayed private said, "For heaven's sake, man, make up your mind!"

Horoscope

Kindly stars rule this day, according to astrology. The sun, Mars and Venus are all in benefic aspect.

It is a rule under which all the good will of the human heart will be easily manifested, for the stars inspire sympathy and understanding.

Under this planetary government men and women in high place will be inclined to do good, for the Sun is in an aspect that is promising.

Great charities will be benefited at this time, for Mars is aspected in a way supposed to bring endowments to hospitals and gifts to all relief organizations.

Women are subject to the best possible direction of the stars and will be of service in many unselfish enterprises while this rule prevails.

This should be a fortunate wedding day, bringing to those who found new homes, children and health, happiness and long life.

Theatres should prosper on this night in an uncommon manner and those who play in them are peculiarly fortunate this year, the seers prophesy.

The Moon today is in Sagittarius, a fiery, masculine sign that encourages decisive opinions and positive action.

Special caution in avoiding accidents is recommended today and there is supposed to be unusual menace of fire.

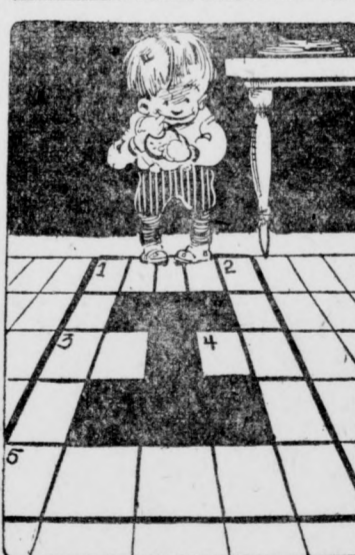

Haste, anxiety, regret and annoyance may be felt with uncommon acuteness under this way, because all the emotions are easily touched at this time.

Unselfishness, generosity and sympathy are awakened by the vibrations under this rule of the stars and the evening should be a most propitious time for the gathering of friends.

Persons whose birthdate it is should resist the temptation to fritter away their money. The year should be a prosperous one for them. The young will court and marry.

Children born on this day probably will be quick, active and much respected.

Puzzle

HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. They key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

(Running Across.)

Word 1 what mother has baked and the boy is eating.

Word 3 what mamma says when he asks for too many.

Word 4 the first person he calls for when they give him the tummy ache.

Word 5 a pleasure boat.

(Running Down.)

Word 1 what Johnny likes as well as what he is eating.

Word 2 something mother uses in making bread.

Any man or woman who can drive an automobile can operate an airplane," says Anthony H. G. Fokker, aviation inventor and manufacturer. He says that financial timidity and lack of adequate landing facilities in America are the only things hindering the rapid development and widespread use of the plane.

M. Fokker was one of the earliest aircraft makers to realize the part airplanes could play in war. A Hollander, he had begun the professional study of aviation in Berlin in 1908. During his youth in Holland he had made and played with many an airplane model of his own design.

In 1911 he flew his own monoplane from the Johannisthal aerodrome, near Berlin, despite the fact that weather conditions were bad. The experts of the day looked on it as a feat. Then he looked on it as a joke. He was then a Russian government's military tests in Petrograd in 1912. At this time he approached the British government with his planes, but it would not buy. The German government then snatched its prize. The success of the Fokker-designed planes during the war is a matter of history.

One of the important developments of the war was M. Fokker's invention of the synchronized gun. This enabled firing through the space swept by the propeller area, a thing never before believed possible. This, of course, increased the usefulness of airplanes as weapons of warfare beyond anything hitherto imagined. M. Fokker thus transformed aircraft from mere observation and bombing units to mobile combat units limited only by their speed and radius of action.

When the war ended M. Fokker transferred his activities to his home country, Holland. Since then he has been building planes for European, Asiatic and South American governments. At present he is supervising the construction of Fokker-designed planes that the Atlantic Aircraft Company is building at Hasbrouck, N. J., for the United States government.

LIVING XMAS TREE SCENE OF GAIETY

Kiddies Frolic Around Small Cedar Planted on Lawn Of Club Property

Showered in bright California sunshine the little cedar tree Miss Ida D. Myers planted on the lawn of the Tuesday Afternoon club in memory of her late father, H. W. Myers, was a star on its crown and myriads of bright Christmas decorations on its branches, for the annual children's Christmas party yesterday. A day of bright sunshine dawned from the rainy weather of Monday, permitting children of club members to frolic on the lawn and gather about the living Christmas tree to place in a big sack held by Santa Claus, gifts for less fortunate children.

Christmas cheer and happiness were everywhere in evidence at the club yesterday. Miniature Christmas trees, wreaths, poinsettias, candles, red streamers and holly were used on the luncheon tables. The Christmas spirit was further carried out in songs sung during the luncheon hour.

Special invitation had been extended to the club children, and many of them were present for the luncheon, mingling their childish talk of Santa Claus with the club program for the luncheon hour. After luncheon each youngster, bearing some small gift for Santa's bag, hurried outdoors to join the throng of young and old about the little tree. Later children and grown-ups crowded the auditorium for entertainment specially for the small guests. George W. Shugers, sleight-of-hand artist, entertained, and Miss Edith Lindsay, well-known Hollywood and Glendale dancer and teacher, presented a group of her pupils.

Colorful Program

The colorful program given by Miss Lindsay's talented pupils was a splendid presentation of artistry in instruction and clever interpretation. "Mechanical Dolls" was the first number, given by Susie Mae Nelson, Virginia Larter, Sylvia Yablow, Edna Harvey, Kathryn White, Margaret Clapp, Genevieve Hill, Elizabeth Sain, Patsy Green, Little Glendale dancer, gave "Daisies Won't Tell," "Waltz Clog Dance" was given by Edna May La Point.

Another feature was the "Ballroom Phantasy," given by Gwendolyn Shattuck, Charlotte and Virginia Darling, Marjorie Richter, Pauline Wallis, Jane Harrison. After the program the children were served ice cream cones.

Kopper Kettle Plans Special Xmas Dinner

Kopper Kettle tea room, 328 North Brand boulevard, under the management of Mrs. M. Hubbard and Mrs. F. Brown, will serve a special Christmas turkey dinner tomorrow from 12 to 2 p. m. and 5:30 to 8 p. m. at the price of the regular Sunday dinner. Mrs. Hubbard and Mrs. Brown say their dinners are real home cooking and already nearly all the tables have been reserved for tomorrow. However, a few reservations can be made by telephoning tonight.

Whitney Boys' Chorus To Appear at Church

A program by the Whitney Boys' chorus will be given Sunday night at Glendale Presbyterian church. There are approximately 100 boys in the chorus. Their program includes, chorals, solos, whistling selections, violin and piano selections and duets.

Dr. H. C. Funk to Give Message on Christmas

Dr. H. C. Funk is to give a Christmas day message at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at First Lutheran church, 233 South Kenwood street. His subject will be "The Wonderful One." There will be special music.

Harmony Quartette to Radio Melody Tonight

The Harmony quartet of Glendale Presbyterian church is giving a popular radio attraction. These singers, who have filled several radio engagements at Los Angeles broadcasting stations, will sing tonight over KNX.

all over the country. Then will follow church and a quiet day at home.

A gigantic Christmas dinner at the executive mansion has been assured by the arrival of a live twenty-five and turkey, the gift of the Lions club of Riverdale, Wyo. Other delicacies for the table have literally poured in to accompany this weighty fowl.

Glendale Baskets Find Way to War Veterans

Baskets of Christmas cheer from Glendale were taken to 421 soldiers at Sawtelle yesterday afternoon. Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, chairman of co-operation with ex-service men and women for the Tuesday Afternoon club, had charge of distributing the baskets. A truck was donated by the Robinson players. A Christmas tree will be dedicated at Sawtelle tonight by the Post War Service League of Hollywood. Singing of Christmas carols will be a feature of the entertainment. Wards at the general hospital have been decorated in Christmas greenery, and a Christmas tree was erected in the ward at the general hospital. Plans are being made for a New Year's party for all of the nurses at Sawtelle. A basket for each nurse in the hospital wards at Sawtelle were also given.

Glendale Monologist Plays Santa for Kids

Harry James, Glendale monologist and entertainer, lost his identity today in the personality of Santa Claus, whom he will impersonate on three occasions. In north pole attire, with long whiskers, a filled pack and lots of merriment in store for all the kiddies. Mr. James, with Mrs. James, entertained during the story hour this afternoon at the public library. From the library Mr. James motored to Los Angeles to greet the kiddies at the Bruns-Whit shop. Tonight he will appear as Santa Claus at the Glendale community tree.

FINANCIAL BRIEFS

By Southland News Service

Snow covers Nebraska and Kansas, in some places six inches deep, over the Christmas holiday. According to E. F. Hutton wire the Bank of France is said to be refusing loans for the purchase of foreign wheat, indicating that continental governments are backing flour millers in resisting the advancing price of grain.

Slow movement into consumption has forced another quarter cent out of the Tulsa gasoline price, bringing wholesale quotation down to 8 cents a gallon.

John D. Ryan, chairman of the Anderson Copper mining board of directors, says prospects for the metals market are best they have been since the end of the war.

Assets of Building And Loan Firms Gain

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 24.—The building and loan associations of Illinois increased their assets by $30,000,000 in the last year to a total of $232,000,000.

Entertainment Given By Boy Scout Troop

Boy Scouts of troop 11, sponsored by the Glendale pyramid of Scouts, entertained parents and friends last night at Harvard High school. There was a reception at 7 o'clock, followed by troop inspection, including flag ceremony, allegiance to the flag, pledge to troop flag and song of welcome. Then followed a series of scout games. Entertaining program numbers were given by the scouts, including "Spanish Song" by James Rames; selected reading, Robert Hawkenson; music by the "Troop Warblers," Lockwood Frost, Ivan Robinson, Robert Cory; specialty number, Teddy Roberts; "Herman the Great," Robert Rist; selected number, Howard Dunn; troop songs and yells. Santa Claus was a welcome guest during the serving of refreshments. Each scout was presented with a marching compass by W. J. Kramer.

Merchants Cashing In on Biggest Business In Many Holidays

By J. C. ROYLE

Special Correspondent of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—The grocers are not going to be left behind in the Christmas trade procession this year. They "put up the front" and opened up the rear doors in preparation for a tremendous business. The grocery stores this season have more attractive window decorations than ever before and their volume of business has been spurred rather than checked by advancing prices, necessitating constant renewals of stocks.

One of the chief characters of the season, the grocer, is, in the tendency of the housewife to buy in smaller quantities and more of the package goods on which the margin of profit is excellent. The undoubted increase in demand for canned goods has strengthened the grocers' position. There was a shortage of new pack fruits and vegetables, and this caused decidedly higher prices. Tomatoes, corn, peaches, apricots and berries were the worst hit and packers were able to deliver only 40 to 50 per cent of the contracts in some cases. Prices in consequence advanced almost to 1918 levels.

Staples Take Jump

Dried fruits were similarly affected and the shortage of tomatoes caused catsup prices to advance. Spices, extracts, olives, pickles and nuts have jumped in price while breakfast foods and cereals are starting upward in response to higher grain prices.

In the department stores all over the country, stocks of goods, including stocks of patience and politeness on the part of the sales force, are melting away under the onslaughts of buyers. Filling in orders are being expedited by express and parcels post, but the rush has been such that many buyers have been disappointed in certain lines. This disappointment does not seem to have extended to the clerks in many stores, who seem to take a rather keen delight in announcing to customers: "Oh, we quit handling that nearly a week ago."

A fillip has been given business by prospective holiday payments. It is still too early for an announcement of many bonus plans, but it is extremely probable that the amount distributed in this way will be smaller this year than in 1923. Nevertheless, some shoppers already are discounting possible payments of such a character.

Distribution of cash presents and bonuses to employees, probably will be heavy in the financial districts. Brokers and security dealers have had a big year with a flood of business at the end of it, caused by sensational trading in stocks, bonds and grain. The banks also have been prosperous and may be counted on to pass around considerable sums to employees.

Checks have already been mailed employees in some instances. In distributing those for his company, consisting of 2 per cent of their salaries, to all employees for the year except the high executives, E. S. Phillips of the Devoe and Reynolds company, the old American maker of paints and varnishes, said: "We do not feel that a formal system of profit-sharing can work out with exact justice. Yet we do feel that the employees should share to some extent in the success or failure of their company."

"When in 1921 it was necessary to reduce costs, the employees, from president to office boys, accepted without protest a 10 per cent cut in wages. When business went back where we could afford it, wages were raised to former levels. It is no more than fair that we should show in a substantial way our appreciation for such loyalty and the unusual efforts put forth by our staff."

Profit has been increased and simplified distribution of Christmas savings funds totaling many million dollars by banks all over the country. This early distribution is counted on to obviate some of the strain and stress of the last week for both stores and customers.

WHITE HOUSE IS SWAMPED BY GIFTS

By ROBERTA V. BRADSHAW

Special Correspondent of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—Christmas hurly-burly has broken loose at the White House where a thousand bundles, boxes, barrels, crates, packages and "pokes" are bearing down gaily upon the staff in a relentlessly steady stream.

Everybody in the White House household has something coming. The president and Mrs. Coolidge and their son John, soon to arrive for the first visit since entering Annapolis, are on the list. So also is Col. John Coolidge, the president's father, although he is not expected to be a White House Christmas guest.

Tagging along in the gift-getting group are Mrs. Coolidge's pets, the white colliers, Rob Roy and Peter Pan, and the president's prime favorite, "Blackie" the cat that "stayed put."

So far, oddly enough, no Christmas turkey has been promised. There still is time plenty for a turkey or two to come winging its way although nobody wonders much at no turkey when casting an appraising eye over the vast assortment of provender gifts which range from bits of handmade honey stuff to splendidly boxed fruits and nuts showing the choicest things from the winter harvests.

Flowers Galore

Flowers, from everywhere, show up against a gorgeous background of holly which Arizona admirers of the Coolidge family have forwarded. The White House registers a lot of excitement because of the holly which is a novelty on the White House gift list. The sight of the holly set everybody inquiring "where's the mistletoe?" Not a sprig of mistletoe in sight to date.

Within the family group Christmas 1924 with its sadly wistful remembrances, will be observed with even more than the customary simplicity by the president and Mrs. Coolidge and their son. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stearns will be of the household during the holidays as they always are on all purely intimate and family occasions. There will be no Christmas tree, no young people's "dance" as there was last year when John and brother Calvin gave an afternoon "party" and the first Lady made a great hit by dancing with every boy in the company.

Commerce Chamber Seeks Method to Control High Prices

Some method of controlling potential industrial property in Glendale will be sought by the industrial committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, working in conjunction with other agencies in the city. An urgent call upon the chamber to effect some sort of mutual agreement with owners of land in the San Fernando road district whereby the price will be kept within reason and the land developed along approved industrial lines was presented before the meeting of the chamber directors last night.

C. R. Smurr, industrial agent for the Southern Pacific railroad, urged the controlling of the industrial land in a letter read to the board by Secretary Howard I. Wood. In Mr. Smurr pointed to the fact that figures recently quoted his department placed the price of industrial land in Glendale at from $10,000 to $15,000 per acre. The Southern Pacific official declared that, if industrial development is to go forward here, land must be made available at half this price per acre.

Mr. Smurr said the tendency toward speculation in the Glendale industrial district is the greatest hazard threatening industrial development in this section. He pointed out that prices equal to those demanded by downtown Los Angeles land owners for industrial land cannot be expected by Glendale owners, and that industrial acreage must be made available here at from $5000 to $7000.

Directors Harry G. MacBain and William L. Truitt disagreed with the assertion of Mr. Smurr that industrial acreage was being held at such high figures. They said unlimited land is being offered at prices even lower than those suggested as fair by the railroad man.

Main Requirements

Three main requirements were stressed in the letter; that the element of speculation be eliminated and that land be sold only to legitimate industrial projects and that no more land than is necessary for their plant be allowed each enterprise; that only firms demanding railroad track acreage skirting the Southern Pacific tracks and that concerns which do not require rail track- acre be required to develop land farther removed from the rail line; and thirdly that an understanding with owners that they will observe these rules be obtained. Under these circumstances, Mr. Smurr promised to throw his whole support to Glendale in bringing industries here.

Other matters taken up by the board of directors of the chamber last night included the appointment of Herman Nelson and V. M. Hollister to represent the chamber of commerce on the committee on equalization of property assessments in the city. The chamber will take the matter of having telephones in the northwest section of the city transferred from the Burbank to the Glendale exchange through the public service corporations committee headed by W. B. Kelly, J. H. Randall, president of the Greater Northwest Improvement association and Attorney Jesse A. Gyer appeared before the board in behalf of the proposed transfer of the telephones.

School Bond Issue

The board deferred endorsement of the proposed $200,000 school bond issue until a later date upon motion to that effect by Director George J. Lyons. Director Lyons gave a brief report of proceedings of the joint school meeting held Friday at which the bond issue plan was divulged. It was announced by Secretary Wood that service clubs were responding readily to the plan for a banquet in honor of Glendale's champion high school football team. A meeting of the special committee will be held Friday at which time a definite date for the banquet will be set. It will take place some time early in January.

Through efforts of the Chamber of Commerce free delivery service by the American Railway Express Co. has been extended to take in the entire south Glendale business district. Free service will be maintained as far south as the city limits along Brand boulevard and in all of the territory lying between Colorado street and Los Feliz road and Brand boulevard and San Fernando road. The new free service district goes into effect January 1.

In order that strangers may more readily locate the Chamber of Commerce headquarters a large sign bearing the name of the chamber will be suspended over the sidewalk from the front of the building on Brand boulevard. It was voted to secure the chamber against possible loss from fire or accident by insuring the New Year's day float to be entered in the Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena.

Rail Head Optimistic On New Year Outlook

one hundred and thirty-six million dollars for improvements and enlargements to their facilities, and they have made plans to spend another one billion, one hundred million dollars for similar purposes in 1925. They must continue to make a billion dollar a year expenditures upon their facilities.

Railroad Conditions

They have been forced to borrow large sums of money to make their recent expenditures and it is a favorable commentary upon the financial situation that they have been able to make their borrowings in most instances under very favorable terms.

In the future, they must raise more and more of their new capital through sales of capital stock to investors who are willing to accept the risks of business and this will require the strongest kind of railway credit.

Notwithstanding the substantial decrease in the gross earnings of the railroads during 1924 they bid fair to end the year without the large reduction in the amount of their net operating income that early in the year seemed probable. This condition has been brought about by reason of the great economies which have been put into effect. However, it should be borne in mind that the roads need to improve their credit, not merely hold the ground they have already gained.

GROGER STEPS INTO RUSH OF XMAS

By J. C. ROYLE

Special Correspondent of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—The grocers are not going to be left behind in the Christmas trade procession this year. They "put up the front" and opened up the rear doors in preparation for a tremendous business. The grocery stores this season have more attractive window decorations than ever before and their volume of business has been spurred rather than checked by advancing prices, necessitating constant renewals of stocks.

One of the chief characters of the season, the grocer, is, in the tendency of the housewife to buy in smaller quantities and more of the package goods on which the margin of profit is excellent. The undoubted increase in demand for canned goods has strengthened the grocers' position. There was a shortage of new pack fruits and vegetables, and this caused decidedly higher prices. Tomatoes, corn, peaches, apricots and berries were the worst hit and packers were able to deliver only 40 to 50 per cent of the contracts in some cases. Prices in consequence advanced almost to 1918 levels.

Staples Take Jump

Dried fruits were similarly affected and the shortage of tomatoes caused catsup prices to advance. Spices, extracts, olives, pickles and nuts have jumped in price while breakfast foods and cereals are starting upward in response to higher grain prices.

In the department stores all over the country, stocks of goods, including stocks of patience and politeness on the part of the sales force, are melting away under the onslaughts of buyers. Filling in orders are being expedited by express and parcels post, but the rush has

CHAPTER II

"We ran into a terrible storm about two days out of Gibraltar," Grant told them. "The Grey Lady behaved magnificently. Captain Martin and every one of my officers really deserve a word of praise. We didn't even lose a boat, and, as you know, some of the big liners got badly knocked about."

"That's interesting," Tarleton admitted, making a few notes. "There's just one other little thing about the voyage, Mr. Slattery."

"Go ahead," Grant invited. "The three men looked at one another. Tarleton appeared to be almost embarrassed—an unusual situation for a newspaper man. Grant, who had pushed a box of cigars across the table, lit a cigarette and threw himself into an easy chair.

"There have been some rumors going around," Tarleton said at last, "about a romantic stowaway."

"Really?" Grant remarked. "I hadn't heard them. What sort of a stowaway?"

"A lady," Booker interposed, taking up his share of the burden. "A lady who has been missing for some time from Monte Carlo."

"Is that so?" Grant exclaimed. "What was her name?"

"The Princess von Diss," Grant started at him for a moment.

"Do you mean to suggest that the Princess von Diss was a passenger on board my yacht?" he demanded.

"That's the story that's been going round," Tarleton acknowledged.

"The idea seems to be that she smuggled herself on board without your knowledge," Havers intervened. "And was only discovered on the third day out."

"A beautiful romance," Miss Phoebe smiled murmured.

"Of course," Tarleton suggested diffidently, "this might very reasonably seem to be a subject upon which you might not care to talk. Say the word and we'll quit. Put it to us that on the subject of the missing Princess von Diss Mr. Slattery had nothing to say, and down it goes in our books and we'll pass on to the next."

"I think you can go a little further than that," he said. "You can assure the millions in New York, who are interested in this sort of thing, that I dined with the Princess von Diss on the night before I left Monte Carlo, at a dinner party given by Mr. Cornelius Blunn, the multi-millionaire—a dinner which included her husband, the Prince von Diss, the King of Gothland, the English Prime Minister, and various other distinguished people. Since that evening I have not seen or heard of the Princess."

The pencils were, for a moment, busy.

"One may take it, then," Tarleton ventured, "that these stories of a romantic stowaway on board your yacht are untrue."

"Entirely," Grant assured them. "There was a large black cat discovered when we were three days out. She was the only stowaway I know about."

"Good heading, that," Booker observed.

"ROMANTIC STOWAWAY ON MR. GRANT SLATTERY'S YACHT DISCOVERED. ANSWERS TO THE NAME OF LIZZIE."

"Well, that disposes of the less important object of our visit," Havers declared. "Can you say anything to us, Mr. Slattery, about the Nice Conference of the Pact of Nations, and the invitation which was sent from there to this country?"

"I was at Monte Carlo at the time," Grant replied, "and I had the privilege of meeting Lord Yeovil often. I look upon the invitation as one of the greatest events of this decade. Lord Yeovil ran a great risk in bringing it forward. There was, as you may have heard, opposition."

Pencils were poised and an eager air of expectancy made itself felt.

"Can you," Tarleton asked, "tell us which countries opposed the invitation?"

"The negative votes are recorded by black balls," Grant explained. "I can only tell you that three were given. No one could say who put them in."

"Did you hear any rumors as to which countries probably did oppose the motion?" Jim Havers enquired.

"Nice and Monte Carlo were full of gossip," Grant replied. "But you must remember that very few people knew even what the system of voting was, much less that there were three black balls actually recorded. You gentlemen have made your scoop in being the first to publish that information. I had meant to have it published here. One of my objects in revisiting America is to impress upon my fellow countrymen the absolute necessity of accepting the invitation from the Pact."

"I see," Havers murmured. "You probably have a little more information up your sleeve, Mr. Slattery."

"I have a few more things to say," Grant confessed. "But I think I've given you fellows something to be going on with. I noticed that one of our well known politicians, in rather a flamboyant speech last night, declared that America has no enemies. It is a foolish statement to make. Those three black balls proved the contrary."

"America has done very well so far by keeping out of the Pact," Booker remarked.

"It has been in accordance with her principles to remain aloof from European affairs," Tarleton put in.

"She occupies a mighty powerful position as a looker-on," Havers declared.

"All that belongs to the past," Grant explained earnestly. "America's policy in keeping out of all these compacts except the Limitation of Armaments may have been a sound one. Personally I am inclined to contest it. However, it is of the future we have to think. Times and conditions have changed. You must remember too that the constitution of the Pact is peculiar. Subscription to its principles and inclusion in its membership make war between any of the nations belonging impossible. On the other hand any member or members of the Pact may make war against any nation outside the Pact without breaking their covenant. In fact, it would be against its established principles for any nation belonging to the Pact to intervene."

"You're not seriously suggesting, Mr. Slattery," Booker enquired, after a brief silence, "that any nation or combination of na-

"You're not seriously suggesting, Mr. Slattery," Booker enquired, after a brief silence, "that any nation or combination of nations would dream attacking the United States?"

"I have not said so, but I see nothing absurd in the idea," Grant assured them. "We are a mighty country in wealth, man power and brains, but we have faithfully obeyed the statutes of the Limitation of Armaments and we are today no stronger than many a poorer country, either on land or on sea. A combination of any two powers you can name would have the advantage of us."

"It would take a great deal to start a war scare in this country," Havers remarked with a smile.

"There were a great many people who didn't believe war was possible in nineteen-fourteen," Grant pointed out. "It came nevertheless. The trouble is that the United States of America are governed too much by men who have never left their own country. To them America is omnipotent. To us, who have travelled and seen other things she is not."

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"I Love You" opens tonight at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, the curtain rising at 8:15 o'clock. This play was written by William Le Baron, who obtained his inspiration from the popular song of the same name, which was a nation-wide hit. It is produced by the Dobinson Players, who last week and the week before scored heavily in "Only 38," the clever A. E. Thomas comedy of college life.

A special orchestration of the song "I Love You" has been made by Gladys H. Lott, musical director of the Dobinson Players, and will be played as an overture. Mrs. Sharkey and Mrs. Frederickson assisting. "I Love You" is said to be a clean, wholesome comedy, breathing the atmosphere of romance. It is expected to prove popular with Glendale audiences.

Uncle Wiggly

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGLY'S CHRISTMAS

"Twas the day before Christmas and all through the bungalow floated the perfume of Uncle Wiggly's coccollo.

At least that's what the old rabbit gentleman called the hot chocolate drink Nurse Jane was getting ready for him.

"Is my coccollo ready?" he called to his muskrat lady housekeeper. "I must soon hop out and see if everything is ready for Christmas. The hot coccollo will keep me warm."

"Here it is," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, coming in the dining room with a steaming cup. "But I wish you wouldn't call it coccollo. It's just cocoa!"

"Well, cocoa or coccollo, it is very good!" laughed the rabbit. Then, having sipped it, he twinkled his pink nose and hopped out to look for the last adventure he would have before Christmas.

As the rabbit uncle skipped along he came to the edge of a hill, just below the edge, he saw a little house with a chimney sticking up through the roof, as all chimneys stick.

"But that is a very black and dirty chimney," said Uncle Wiggly to himself. For, standing on the edge of the hill, he could look down on the roof of the little house and directly into the chimney. "It is very black indeed and dirty with soot. It hasn't been cleaned out for Christmas. Santa Claus can never climb down that chimney. I had better clean it out. I can easily jump down on that roof and jump back here again on the hill."

So taking with him a fluffy branch from a pine tree, which branch was like a big brush, Uncle Wiggly leaped to the roof of the house with the sooty chimney.

"I guess some one lives here who has forgotten all about Santa Claus and Christmas," thought the bunny as he thrust the pine branch into the chimney. "He didn't clean the flue out so St. Nicholas could climb down. But I'll do it for them."

Now, though Uncle Wiggly didn't know it, this house was one into which the Fox had just moved for the winter. And the Fox was inside, sitting by his fire, and wishing he had Uncle Wiggly's ears to nibble.

And when the Fox heard some one on his roof and heard a scraping inside his chimney the Fox growled:

"I wonder who that is? I'll go outside and look. If it's boys playing Hallowe'en tricks on me I'll bite them! You see the Fox never gave any thought to anything so jolly as Christmas—no indeed!"

Slipping out of his back door the Fox hid behind some bushes and looked up to his roof. There, to his great surprise, he saw Uncle Wiggly cleaning out the chimney with the pine brush.

"Well, of all the good luck!" laughed the Fox. "I'll go up on the hill, jump to my roof, as that rabbit must have done, and then I'll nibble his ears. At last I have caught him. Ha, Ha!"

But just as the Fox was going to leap from the hill to the roof Uncle Wiggly leaned over too far and down the chimney he fell, right inside the house of the Fox. So quickly did the bunny fall that he bounced out of the fire on the hearth without getting burned a bit.

"This is queer," said Uncle Wiggly to himself, as he stood up. "Nobody home. I guess no one lives here. Well, anyhow, I cleaned out the chimney for Santa Claus! Now I'll go back home and get ready for Christmas!" And out of the door ran the bunny, and the Fox could not catch the rabbit, because the Fox was up on his own roof, and didn't jump down in time.

"Fooled again!" howled the bad chap, as the bunny ran safely home. And the next day was the grandest time of all the year.

"Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas, Nurse Jane!" cried the bunny as he looked at the presents under the Christmas tree.

"Merry Christmas!" answered the muskrat lady. And then Uncle Wiggly called to all the boys and girls:

"Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas!"

And I suppose you wish him the same. And if the paint brush doesn't put red ink on the loaf of bread to make it look like a strawberry shortcake, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and Sammie's candy.

SEVEN KILLED WHEN PLANE CRASHES

British Mail Carrier on Paris Trip Falls In Mass of Flames

LONDON, Dec. 24.—Seven passengers were believed killed in the crash of a British mail plane bound for Paris today. The plane burst into flames as it struck the ground, shortly after starting.

The pilot and seven passengers were found in the ruins of the wrecked plane, which crashed two miles from its home aerodrome. The ship evidently encountered trouble and had turned toward the aerodrome when it crashed.

The dead in the mail plane crash included father, mother and son of one family. Another woman was a victim.

Lack of Funds Delays Exhuming Rich Orphan

CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—A possibility that the investigation of the death of William McClintock, "millionaire orphan," may be stopped by lack of funds, loomed today as an order permitting the exhuming of the body was handed down in criminal court after the circuit court, to which Coroner Oscar Wolf applied, refused to grant the permission.

Coroner Wolf estimated it would cost $3000 to open the concrete in which the body lies and he said he did not know who would pay this. A conference was called by the state's attorney's office.

Frame-up' Publishers Charge to Postal Issue

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—Charges that American newspaper and magazine publishers were "framed" by the postoffice department in order to secure from Congress an increase in postal rates were made today by Arthur J. Baldwin, president of the National Publishers association before the joint congressional committee on postal affairs.

Baldwin assailed the costliest and most costly of the postal department's report of the postal office department, upon which rate increases were based "as utterly absurd."

Betty Bronson Is Received By Country on Her Trip to N. Y.

By MARIAN MARSHALL
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 24.—From off Chicago today comes word of a wonderful reception being accorded Betty Bronson, petite film star of "Peter Pan," who is en route to effete New York for the premiere screen version of Sir J. M. Barrie's famous fantasy.

Junior League girls, Campfire girls and other girls of Betty's age are greeting her at every stop, and in Kansas City recently she visited the schools and was guest at a tea given by the Women's club which has a great deal to say about pictures in the Missouri metropolis.

Betty leaped to fame overnight and Josie Fawkes heralds her as "the new Mary Pickford." It's all like a dream to her and she is among that class of young screen luminaries bidding for future fame. The first group of popular stars are beginning to fade away like veterans of the Civil war.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is playing again this time in "The Air Mail," a Byron Morgan story directed by Irvin Willat. He holds promise of being another romantic screen actor opposed to the Valentino, Moreno and Cortez types now he-vamping their way into the hearts of the feminine film fans. I predict a change soon which will show these stars in better roles than lounge lizards.

One thing has to be said about these "modern boys." They are hard workers. Joe Jackson, veteran publicist, sends me a note saying that Valentino is a real fellow. Pete Smith insists that Tony Moreno is a Spaniard and an athlete, but he is no "Spanish athlete." And Ricardo Cortez is highly recommended as a gentleman.

Lillian Rich starred in "The Golden Bed" and now turns to "A Kiss in the Dark," the latter to be filmed for Lasky in New York. Wonder if the actors ever make a cross word puzzle out of the titles of the films in which they play.

Harry Beaumont is filming "Armistice Day" scenes at Warner Brother this week. A large number of disabled veterans are getting extra work for Christmas money as a result.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. COLEMAN
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—The stock market lapsed into typical pre-holiday conditions today. There was an almost complete lifting of the selling pressure which prevailed in the first two sessions of the week, and thus the trend of prices was always toward higher levels. The market was made known stocks, at this late date, establishing new high prices for 1924. There was an equally small buying demand in the market today. Both the professional traders and the outside public seemed to be indifferent to the higher level of the market. Speculative stocks and industries made new commitments on the day preceding the Christmas holiday. The pools were inactive and, with few exceptions, their stocks were left to shift for themselves. Groups of stocks which have shown unusual activity in recent sessions were featureless.

Chief interest in the market centered on a few of the high-priced speculative leaders in the industrial and railroad equipment groups. Cast Iron Pipe shocked the bears with a sudden jump to 63 1/2, but retreated as selling orders rushed in at that level. General Electric, Pullman, Baldwin and Norfolk & Western, the high-priced leaders of the last few days, were joined by Dupont, Rockwell & Laskawanna and American Locomotive.

Stock sales totaled 1,020,900 shares; bonds $6,872,000.

CHICAGO WHEAT

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—Grains held firm throughout today's session and closed higher. Wheat finished 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 up. Corn closed 1/4 to 1/2 higher. Oats finished 1/4 to 1/2 up. Provisions closed dull and slightly lower on houses.

HOLIDAY TREE EXPENSES FOR HOLLYWOOD SOCIETY

Atwater Improvement Body Celebration Attended by 1,500 People

Glendale Institution Also Pays $43,000 of Debt Adventists Report

More than 1500 persons joined in the community Christmas tree celebration held last night under the auspices of the Atwater Improvement association on South Glendale avenue between Gardena and Madera streets. Eight hundred children received packages containing candy, fruit and small toys from the hands of Santa Claus during the evening. The large crowd joined in singing Christmas carols and a selected orchestra gave a program of Christmas numbers before Santa made his appearance.

St. Nicholas broke his way through the great stack of gift packages, and beneath the gleaming lights of the huge 20-foot Christmas tree, met the hundreds of children, one by one, handing to each a package which was received with mingled glee and awe at the splendor of the spectacle.

Committee Members

Following the distribution of gifts, street dancing was enjoyed until 11 o'clock. Raymond MacMair, vocalist, rendered a group of Christmas numbers. P. E. Lipscomb, chairman of the committee in charge of the program, was Santa Claus. Other members of the committee who assisted in arranging the holiday celebration were George Daniels, A. Larsen, A. J. Wray, H. Dooch, A. Jackson, Raymond MacMair and James Ord.

Members of the committee joined today in extending their appreciation for the co-operation extended by merchants who assisted in getting up the 800 gift packages.

Frank J. Smith Denies Shakeup In Personnel

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 24.—Denying rumors of an impending shakeup in San Quentin prison, Frank J. Smith, who will assume the wardenship of the institution in January 1, declared today that every man employed in the penitentiary will be given a chance to make good in his position.

"Drunkness while on duty, or off duty, will bring instant dismissal," Smith asserted.

"Dope dealers will be turned over to the federal authorities and every effort will be made to prosecute them to the fullest extent of the law. Changes will be made, however, only after an employee has demonstrated his unfitness."

Steel Mills Feeling Upturn In Business

CLEVELAND, Dec. 24.—Companys manufacturing auxiliary parts and steel have been the first to feel the business upturn in this section. Operations in most of these lines are running at 60 to 70 per cent of capacity and the steel mills are doing better than that. Improvement in steel is reflected by the fact that last month ore consumed showed an increase of 190,934 tons to 3,636,726. Active stocks increased by twenty-two in the last month making a total of 177 out of 330 in operation. Building construction is quiet although indications point to considerable activity next year.

Duck Blind Rum Party

Exact Lives of Two

OAKLAND, Dec. 24.—Oakland police were dragging the bay in the vicinity of the Key Route pier today for the bodies of Ray Gallupe and William O'Donnell, believed to have been drowned after an alleged all-night drinking party held in a drunken brawl at 603 East Broadway, where Elder J. L. McElhany, president of the California conference, San Francisco; Elder W. M. Adams, president of the Northern California conference, Lodi; Elder J. L. Nethery, president of the Southeastern California conference, Riverside; Elder E. L. Neff, president of the Central California conference, Fresno; Elder O. O. Bernstein, president of the Southern California conference, and vice president of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital board, Los Angeles; Dr. Frank Abbott, Ontario, and J. Shull, press foreman, Pacific Press, Mountain View.

Christmas Holiday Is Ordered for Jurors

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24.—The fate of "Kid" McCoy, on trial for the alleged murder of Mrs. Theresa Moss, will probably be under consideration by the jury of nine women and three men by Friday noon. The "Kid" lost his strategic race against time for the submission of the case to the jurors for a Christmas verdict.

Superior Judge Crail announced that upon conclusion of the arguments by counsel, expected some time today, he will order a recess over Christmas, to avoid locking up the jury over the holiday.

White House Denies by Hint Ambassador Spat

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—The White House denied by inference today that President Coolidge intended any criticism of Jules Jusserand, the French ambassador, in refusing to discuss a speech by Jusserand discussing the liquidation of the $4,000,000,000 French debt to the United States.

Movie Star Taken Ill As Paris Hotel Guest

PARIS, Dec. 24.—Pearl White, motion picture actress, was so seriously ill with appendicitis today that she could not be moved from the Crillon hotel to a hospital. Miss White was taken ill suddenly last night. Her physicians do not believe her condition is dangerous, but counselled against an attempt to take her to the hospital.

Cotton Growers Hold Products for Advance

Reports from the Western Rangers camp in the San Bernardino mountains, near Lake Arrowhead, today stated there was about a foot of snow on the ground.

When camp was broken Monday, they were camped at Camp Seeley. Harry C. James, chief of the Western Rangers; Charles D. Perlee, Carl Sharnsmith and Charles Rogers had charge. Fire engines mounted as sidecars of motorcycles have been parked.

GIVES INSURANCE POLICY AS GIFT

Bentley Lumber Co. Donates
Unique Remembrances
To All Employees

As a token of appreciation for faithful service, Bentley Lumber Co., 460 West Los Feliz road, has announced the distribution of over $50,000 in life insurance policies to its employees as Christmas gifts. The minimum amount of insurance given any employee was $1,000, which amount will increase each year. This is the same plan of insurance that has been adopted by a number of large concerns throughout the country. Bentley Lumber Co., one of the largest concerns of its kind in Southern California, believes this form of Christmas remembrance is superior to giving money or some form of merchandise as it affords protection to the family of the employee during his entire lifetime. This insurance is known as group insurance, the premium being paid by the company.

The policies were underwritten by the Missouri State Life Insurance Co., through its local representative, James M. Rhoades. This gift is doubly appreciated by a number of the employees as no medical examination was required. This form of insurance is also efficient, in that a check for $1,000 is given the family of the beneficiary immediately upon his death, a time when it is most needed.

BURGLARS PROWL BUT LOOT SMALL

Store Rifled and Homes
Entered With Small
Aggregate Loss

Burglars last night broke into the shop of Charles C. Sherrard, 133 North Brand boulevard, and stole wearing apparel. They ransacked the home of A. O. Rowe, 537 West Palm drive, and stole a number of household articles from the home of N. P. Sprink, 550 West Myrtle street. In no case was the loot large, according to Detectives Lieutenant W. J. Royle of Glendale police, who conducted the investigations.

A number of suspicious incidents also were reported today. A prowler near the Park Avenue pharmacy, evidently frightened, beat a hasty retreat, leaving behind an overcoat containing a bottle of liquor and a box of pills. At 544 West Lexington drive a "burglar" proved to be the family dog.

E. H. Hinkley of Belvedere reported the theft of two sample boxes from his car yesterday afternoon, while it was parked in the 200 block on South Brand boulevard. The cases contained leather belts and brief-cases, he told the Glendale police, their total value being $150.

Frank J. Tallman of 1321 Linden avenue, reported a spare tire stolen from his car yesterday afternoon while it was parked on East Wilcox avenue near Brand boulevard.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

It is Christmas Eve—
Poets have done their best to tell the spirit which prevails—
Literates have added reams in prose, and all have failed, because the Christmas spirit, the lighted trees, the gaily and tragedy of childhood depending on circumstance, the sweetly sung carols, the merry gifts so joyously given—
They beggar description and it is only in thought and action that Christmas is. A living thing—
Santa Claus—that Christmas spirit, a day of Godliness and deliverance.

Observation of Christmas by many nations of the earth is becoming a reality. Race and creed seem to fall before Christian observance of the Saviour's birth.

Would one but wish that the Christmas spirit prevailed every day of the year.

Christmas eve—
The Elks of this community are to be commended for their complete and efficient handling of the biggest problem that faces men of means this night.

In a discreet manner they are permitted to play Santa Claus to the hundreds of more or less unfortunate souls who are given new courage in the day of days.

It is good that so few families in the far flung San Fernando valley need assistance. It is good, too, that there is no suffering from snow bound roads; that the climate is good for the children, who they clothed ever so lightly; that the cost of food is less here than in eastern cities, and that the bounties of the Lord will be well spread before every family on the morrow.

Christmas eve—
"Peace on earth, good will toward all men." In this day and age of enlightenment it seems strange that race antagonism, that creed hatred should be heard, that hypocrisy should be abroad in this land of freedom.

If only the Master's words were to be driven home to each and every one of us on the morrow, it would be the greatest gift of all!

UNIQUE YULETIDE GREETINGS SENT

Bentley Lumber Co. Recalls
Days Long Passed In
Letter to Patrons

Patrons of the Bentley Lumber Co., 460 West Los Feliz road, have each received the following unique Christmas greeting and wishes for the New Year:

Twenty years ago, we remember when eggs were three dozen for 25 cents; butter was 10 cents a pound; milk was 5 cents a quart; the butcher gave away liver and treated the kids to Bologna; the hired girl received $2 a week and did the washing; women did not powder, paint (in public), smoke, vote, play poker, or shake the shimie.

"Men wore whiskers and boots, chewed tobacco and spat on the sidewalk, and cussed. Beer was 5 cents and the lunch was free. Laborers worked ten hours a day and never went on a strike. No tips were given to waiters and the hat-check grater was unknown. A kerosene lamp and a stereoscope in the parlor were luxuries.

"No one was ever operated on for appendicitis or bought glands; microbes were unheard of; folks lived to a good old age, and every year walked miles to wish their friends a merry Christmas.

Times Have Changed
"Today, you know, everybody rides in automobiles or flies; plays golf, shoots craps, plays the piano with their feet, goes to the movies nightly, smokes cigarettes, drinks white milk, blames the H. C. of L. on the Republican party, never goes to bed the same day they get up, and think they're having a wonderful time. These are the days of suffragettes, profiteering, excess taxes and prohibition, and if you think life is worth living, we wish you a happy New Year."

gum. Paper bags of candy in which had been placed one half pound of candy was furnished by William Hopkins and a bag of candy was placed in each Christmas basket. Mrs. Tournay made crystallized grapefruit, the fruit being donated by the Red Cross and this was also placed in the baskets. Other articles were: Shaving soap, washing soap, tied with tinsel; hose, handkerchiefs, unique Christmas greeting and postal cards, pencils, puzzles, games, jams and jellies wrapped in holly paper and tied with tinsel. Phonograph records and other personal gifts were also given.

Mrs. Wright, district chairman of Federated Women's clubs, of Hollywood was present at the meeting. Luncheon was served by the Glendale committee, the Tuesday Afternoon club acting as hostess. Mrs. Gilliland introduced Mrs. Wright who outlined the work done by the representatives, asking that the work of the organizations continue throughout the year, and suggested a meeting with Mrs. Gilliland's work during the year and the work of the committee. Talks were given by Mrs. George L. Kaeding, Mrs. Ella Richardson and Mrs. Harry Wilcox, each expressing the appreciation of Mrs. Gilliland's work.

Individual Donations
Individual donations of articles for the baskets were many. Glendale organizations co-operating in the work were: Tuesday Afternoon club, College Women's club, La Crescenta Women's club, Wednesday Bridge club, P. E. O., Burbank Legion and Auxiliary, literature section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, Omar Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem, Optimists, Lions' club, Tujunga Woman's club, La Canada Women's club, Eagle Rock Twentieth Century club, Glendale American Legion Auxiliary, Glen Eyrie Social club, Electa Social club of Glendale Chapter, No. 422, Order of Eastern Star, Relief Corps, D. A. R.; Glendale Thursday Afternoon club, Glendale Red Cross, Verdugo Hills American Legion Auxiliary, Business and Professional Women's club, Glendale Post, American Legion Auxiliary.

Cars left the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse this afternoon at 1 o'clock for Sawtelle to deliver the Christmas cheer. A truck from the Franklin Motor Co., donated through courtesy of the Lions' club, five cars from the American Legion and other cars assisted in taking the baskets to Sawtelle. Five hospital wards, and barracks 3 are being taken care of by the Glendale organizations.

Many firms in foreign countries are buying American-made rubber balloons, toys and balls for the Christmas season.

Shipments by way of the Panama Canal are 18 per cent more than in 1915, just after it opened.

Australia is spending $5,000,000 on road improvement.

DELAY AT BORDER RILES CANADIANS

Wealthy Travelers Threaten To Sell Holdings In Southern California

The startling disclosure that 500 wealthy Canadians who own property in Southern California and who spend much of their time and money here are threatening to dispose of their real estate holdings and not return another winter has set the wheels of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce into action. Many of the tourists from the Dominion spend their winters in Glendale, it was stated.

Alleged pitiless prosecution by immigration officers at the international boundary, resulting in distasteful inconveniences to the wealthy travelers, is causing many Canadians to seek other winter haunts than Southern California, it was declared in a letter to Secretary Howard L. Wood of the Glendale chamber, from W. G. Walton, Canadian, who owns considerable property in Glendale, and who resides here seven months out of the year.

Delayed at Border
Mr. Walton pointed out that, although most of his time is spent here in the United States, he is subjected to the same rigid investigation every time he crosses the international border. Recently he was delayed for two hours because he was unable to produce a birth certificate. He is well up in years, and said as far as he knew he never did have any such document.

Mr. Walton's complaint was turned over to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, but was returned with the notation, "This is nothing compared with the ones we get. We have investigated and protested, but without avail. We give up." Mr. Wood will pursue the matter further.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Dec. 24.—The Chamber of Commerce has set three objectives for 1925: a new Southern Pacific depot, better Pacific Electric service and emergency assistance in widening and paving San Fernando boulevard.

The Southern Pacific has been known to have this matter under consideration for several years. The Pacific Electric has recently shifted back to a thirty minute schedule from the forty minute schedule in effect during the conservation period. Supervisor Henry W. Wright has intimated that the board of supervisors might follow the precedent established with Glendale and Los Angeles, in donating a portion of the expense of improving San Fernando boulevard.

This is the gist of a report on these three projects, rendered by Manager J. W. Charleville of the Chamber of Commerce at the last meeting of the directors. A resolution was adopted urging the Burbank City Trustees exert their efforts toward the accomplishment of this threefold objective.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Reese of 639 Palm avenue have left for Imperial valley to spend the Christmas season. They will visit with Mr. Reese's son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. N. E. Dupont, of El Centro, and son, Robert Reese and family, at Westmoreland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lamb of 569 Tujunga avenue have left for San Francisco, where they will spend the holidays at the homes of their daughter, Mrs. J. E. French, and son, J. E. Lamb. They plan to be north two or three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ling of Portland, Oregon, are expected to arrive here today to visit for the Christmas season with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Russell of 331 Palm avenue.

Immigration into Canada now numbers about 12,000 a month.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Dec. 24.—Final transfer of the membership of the Community church to the Methodist denomination has been made and the church will be known in the future as the Tujunga Community Methodist Episcopal church. Dr. A. J. Hughes, superintendent of the Methodist district, was present at the meeting held for that purpose. Trustees and stewards elected were: Trustees—E. W. Schoch, A. M. Price, P. O. Hough, J. A. Jenkins, J. R. Walker, H. F. Slayton, H. H. Fraser, Stewards—Augustus Adams, Helen L. Atkinson, James Bixby, Dr. Stella Conner, W. W. Hicks, C. P. White, Mrs. Alma Wieman. Other officers will be filled later.

Mrs. Jenkins was approved as president of the Ladies Aid society, Carrol White as president of the Christian Endeavor society. Rev. Pasko, who has been acting as temporary pastor, was appointed pastor until the next annual conference. The change is now complete, subject to the official approval of the courts on the legal papers.

Monday night the Christian Endeavor society gave a banquet in honor of the officers and installed new officers recently elected. Short talks were made by retiring officers and the new officers outlined work intended for the coming year. Musical numbers were interspersed with the speeches and an informal social hour was held following the business meeting. Officers installed were: Mildred Jepson, president; Albert Wells, vice-president; Robert Rutherford, secretary; Howard Rice, treasurer. Committeemen—Mabel Elsie, Douglas Day, Bertha May Johnson and Robert Mills. James Blaine, who has been recovering from a recent break in his health following a strenuous career as fire warden of Tujunga, is reported worse again. Mr. Blaine formerly was a resident of Glendale.

Mrs. Jessie B. Jonderton, of the Tujunga Woman's club, fell and injured her side recently and has been confined to the house for a few days.

Mrs. Eliza M. D'Aule died at the Tujunga Sanatorium last week and was buried in Hollywood. She had been ill but a few days, and had lived in Tujunga for several years. As a member of the Chamber of Commerce and Valley Community Improvement league Mrs. D'Aule was interested in many community improvements. Two sons survive, John M. D'Aule, Los Angeles and Joseph D'Aule, New York City.

Addison E. Wells is visiting his son, Arthur Wells, for the holidays, but expects to go to Chicago the first of the year.

Christmas exercises were held at the Community Methodist church last night at 7:30. The service club distributed their Christmas packages today.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Dec. 24.—Streets in this community and Rockdale are soon to be torn up for the laying of sewer mains and laterals. The cost, based on work now under way in the Silverwood tract, will be $2 per front foot, it is said.

An "Old Time Klondike Dance" was held Monday night at the Rockdale Veterans' hall, Los Angeles. Major H. L. Suydam, president of the Alaska-Yukon club of Eagle Rock, was among those present. DeWitt L. Reaburn, formerly a "sourdough," now consulting engineer of the city of Los Angeles, gave an interesting talk.

Following is the list of new officers of Primrose lodge, No. 235, Order of the Daughters of St. George:

Worthy president, Teresa Keesey; W. P. president, Flora Crane; worthy vice-president, Lucy Farrow; worthy chaplain, Annie Farrar; financial secretary, Margaret Watts; trustees, Sarah Knowles, Elizabeth Hunt, Mary Ward; treasurer, Rose Lewis; recording secretary, Isabel Graham; first conductor, Dorothy Wilkes; second conductor, Sarah Harrison; inside guard, Amy Vignars; outside guard, Jessie Arrand; Mary Nash, pianist.

Mr. and Mrs. Pinner of Vancouver recently spent a few hours in Eagle Rock with their friends Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Ball of Rockdale avenue.

J. F. Riley is building two four-room stucco houses on Addison Way. Mr. Riley is now residing in San Diego but will move here when the houses are completed.

Rev. E. Morgan Isaac, pastor of the First Congregational church who has been obliged to relinquish his duties temporarily owing to the condition of his health, reports that he is recuperating rapidly and hopes to be with his congregation soon again.

Germany's president is chosen to serve for a term of seven years.
